Community Mediation of St. Mary's County is actively recruiting new mediators and volunteers.

The mission of Community Mediation of St. Mary's County (CMSMC) is to provide conflict management and mediation support services that empower people to turn conflict into conversation.

We seek

- to educate the public about conflict management
- to train volunteers to become mediators
- to provide free, confidential, voluntary mediation and group-facilitation services.

Community Mediation of St. Mary's County has provided mediation services to Southern Maryland since 2001. We are sponsored through a grant from the Maryland Mediation and Conflict Resolution Office (MACRO) and donations from our community, which keep our services at no cost to the community.

With several new or reimagined partnerships — Health Department Hub, St. Mary's County Public Schools, and the Detention Center, to name a few — the need for more mediators is at an all-time high.

If you or someone you know are looking for a way to serve the community and are interested in becoming a mediator, consider this your personal invitation! Prior experience is not required. We will provide the 40-hour training plus an apprenticeship period for all new volunteers. This is a great opportunity to gain a new skill and serve the community.

If you are interested in joining the team, please reach out to me or contact us through the website:
